Compuware CEO Comments on Modernizing Government Technology Act

DETROIT—April 29, 2017—Compuware Corp. CEO Christopher O'Malley comments on the new Modernizing Government Technology Act (MGT) bill, reintroduced on Friday by a bipartisan group of lawmakers led by committee chair Rep. Will Hurd (R-Texas):

"As a technology firm born, raised and reborn in Detroit, we're committed to helping support the government's mission to best serve America's interests. The new MGT Act, led by Congressman Will Hurd, provides essential legislative support to properly enable Federal IT in the digital age. Compuware fully supports this bill and commends Rep. Hurd's leadership on the effort."

"Wisely rejecting a blanket rip-rewrite-and-replace strategy, this bill empowers Federal IT to deploy proven private-sector approaches that sensibly exploit past investments that work well while leveraging the respective technology and economic virtues of the post-modern mainframe and the cloud."

"We fully support fiscally responsible, federal modernization efforts in serving American interests and look forward to seeing the alignment with the Federal CIO, when named, and the President's Innovation office. As technologists, we must all keenly focus on the interests of America and Americans and collaborate in service."
